EDITORIAL

Pioneering Perspectives in Media, Technology, and Society

Dear authors,

I'm pleased to welcome you to our research journal, JCM, which is about advancing knowledge and promoting academic excellence in journalism, mass communication, and management.

As the editor of this journal, I'm happy to show you the most recent issue, Vol. 3, Issue 4, 2024, which has a wide range of high-quality research articles from many different fields. This issue of our journal aims to explore the pressing and transformative themes shaping contemporary media and communication landscapes in a world rapidly evolving due to technological advancements and societal challenges. The curated collection of research papers in this edition provides a multidimensional exploration of topics ranging from the transformative power of generative AI to the critical intersections of journalism, human rights, and hate speech. Our goal is to give scholars, researchers, and practitioners a place to share their research findings, insights, and points of view on important issues in our world today.

Our commitment to publishing original, thought-provoking research contributes to our understanding of the world. One of the best things about this edition is that the research comes from many fields. Our contributors come from various fields, including psychology, sociology, journalism, and mass communication. This diversity of perspectives guarantees our readers exposure to a wide range of ideas and approaches to comprehending their surroundings. In addition to presenting original research, this journal also provides a platform for discussion and debate.

We encourage readers to engage with the articles and offer their own perspectives on the issues raised. This dialogue is essential to advancing our understanding of the world and developing new insights and solutions to our challenges. In this edition, you will find articles that cover a diverse range of topics: generative AI in open and distance learning, cyber media websites, independent journalism, hate speech, human rights, and journalism.

We are proud of the quality of the research presented in this edition, and we hope that it will stimulate discussions, inspire new ideas, and spark further research. As always, we maintain the highest standards of quality when selecting articles for publication. We subject all articles to rigorous double-blind peer review, accepting only those that meet our originality, rigor, and significance criteria. Our editorial team works tirelessly to ensure that all published articles are of the highest quality and meet the expectations of our readers. Finally, I would like to express my gratitude to our authors, reviewers, and readers for their support and contributions to this journal.

This edition would not have been possible without their dedication and hard work. I hope you enjoy reading this edition and look forward to your continued support in the future.

Happy Reading!
Best wishes
